

What is the numerical value for nano?

The prefix "nano-" refers to a factor of 10^{-9} , or 0.000000001. It is often used to indicate a very small quantity or size.

For example, a nanometer is a unit of length equal to one billionth of a meter (0.000000001 meters).